OUR APRIL MAJOR AUCTION ENDS VERY SOON ON SUNDAY APRIL 17TH (starting at 3 PM CT)!

EMOVIEPOSTER.COM'S APRIL MAJOR AUCTION
Runs from March 27th to April 17th!

1,106 great U.S., non-U.S., & non-movie posters and items of all kinds

I could write an entire book about how many wonderful and varied items there are in this April Major Auction, but I would SO much rather you go to the auction at <https://www.emovieposter.com/agallery/15.html> and see for yourself! And PLEASE do not delay in starting to look it all over, because with SO much great material, "sensory overload" starts to set in, and you will surely "miss" some items if you try to take it all in at once!

And with SO much great material, there is almost surely be many great "deals" and even some outright "steals", because we are the only major auction with HONEST no reserve auctions, so many items can and will sell for lower than expected prices. But you can't get those deals if you aren't bidding so why not check them out right now?

Our "Second Ever Major Mondo Print Auction" is part of our April Major Auction and also ends VERY soon on 4/17!

If you like or own any Mondo prints, you will be astounded by this set of auctions!

First, some background: In December 2020 we auctioned 2,346 Mondo art prints (from the collection of Mondo founder, Tim League), and they sold for $732,660.00! But Mr. League mostly only gave us prints from 2013 to 2020, because the ones from before that time (back to 2004!) were ones he either only had one of, or very few.

NOW WE HAVE BEEN CONSIGNED A COLLECTION OF 257 PRINTS, MOSTLY ALL BOUGHT DIRECTLY FROM MONDO BETWEEN 2004 AND 2012 (with just a few later ones)!

These are the "rarest of the rare", and hardly ever change hands, and when they do it is usually for lots of money! But, as with all eMoviePoster.com auctions, ALL of these will start at $1, with NO reserves, NO buyers premiums, and NO consignor bidding on their own items, as is seen at many auctions!

These 257 auctions are at the start of eMoviePoster.com's April Major Auction, and they end VERY soon, on April 17th starting at 3PM CST.

AND WHAT'S UPCOMING?

The final deadline to consign to eMoviePoster.com's all signed auction is 4/22!

We at eMoviePoster.com USED to hold three or four "all-signed" auctions each year, but NOW, thanks to our shift to every four week auctions, we only have a single "all-signed" auction each year, and this year's one runs from 5/22 to 6/12, and it will be FILLED with great autographed items of every kind!

If YOU have "better" signed items you would like to sell (ones with good provenance), than contact us today with what you have, and you could see YOUR item in our next preview ad (like this great Jimmy Stewart signed It's a Wonderful Life lobby card, which has already been consigned to this very special auction!

EMOVIEPOSTER.COM

Our annual "all-signed" auction, (which runs from 5/22 to 6/12) will be FILLED with great autographed items of all kinds, all with NO reserves! Have your consignments for this auction on their way no later than 4/22!

Two of Early Cinema's Rarest Posters, For 'Hollywood' and 'Dracula,' Star in Heritage Auctions' April Event - April 23-24th

Two-day vintage posters auction also features a treasured trip down Oz's Yellow Brick Road and a comic book artist's original trek aboard Picard's U.S.S. Enterprise

DALLAS, Texas (March 28, 2022) — Hooray for Hollywood — specifically, director James Cruze's star-studded 1923 comedy *Hollywood*.

The movie about a girl and her uncle's adventures in Los Angeles is "presumed lost," as Turner Classic Movies notes — despite the appearances of Gloria Swanson, Will Rogers, Mary Pickford, Cecil B. DeMille and some 50 more Golden Age stars. But one of two known surviving posters for this legendary film serves as a centerpiece of Heritage Auctions' April 23-24 Movie Posters Signature® Auction.

Only once before has Heritage offered a poster from this lost gem — on July 23, 2009, when it sold for $89,625.

The Hollywood one sheet is far from the only rarity offered in this event. Here, too, is something frighteningly hard to find: an insert for 1931's *Dracula*, director Tod Browning's masterpiece adaptation of Bram Stoker's novel.

Posters for the movie that made Bela Lugosi a haunted-household name have long been record-setters at Heritage Auctions: A Dracula one sheet sold in 2017 for $525,800, while a green-hued poster for its 1938 re-release realized $312,000 in November 2020. But the insert featured in this event should be counted among Count Dracula's hardest-to-find offerings: Only five are known to exist, and this is the first Heritage has had the pleasure and honor of offering at auction.

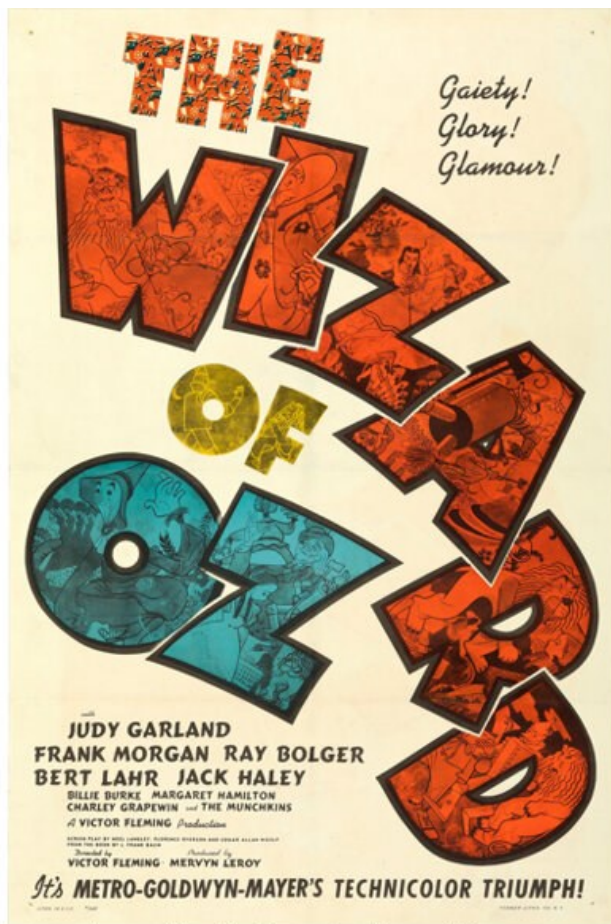

"These are beautiful works on their own, art made to celebrate and commemorate art," says Zach Pogemiller, Consignment Director in Heritage Auctions' Vintage Posters category. "The Hollywood one sheet and Dracula insert aren't just exceedingly rare; they're beautiful, too, each standing on its own as a jaw-dropping masterpiece that somehow survived nearly a century later.

"The Hollywood one sheet is part of the only remaining record for the film, and the poster's truly spectacular design shows the studio spared no expense in the marketing of this star-studded extravaganza, which makes the few surviving artifacts from the campaign all the more historically significant. And the scarce original paper for Dracula is universally recognized as a Holy Grail of the poster collecting world. And to think, these are just two of the extraordinary works being offered here, from the established classics to more recent blockbusters to even some original paintings made for modern movies."

Indeed, this auction's Golden Age offerings pave a long yellow-brick road all the way to Oz: Among this event's centerpieces are two Wizard of Oz wonders, including a 1939 Style C one sheet by revered caricaturist Al Hirschfeld. It strolls arm-in-arm alongside another Oz delight, the Style D one sheet that just might qualify as the most beautiful of all the Oz posters. It's certainly among the most difficult to find: This event marks only the third time Heritage has offered the Style D design, with its colorful illustration and photographic representation of the extended cast.

This auction also counts among its gems this offering from the vaunted collection of legendary poster collector Bob Colman: the one sheet for 1925's *The Eagle*, starring Rudolph Valentino as a former Czarist officer-turned-Robin Hood when his land is stolen by a malevolent nobleman. Valentino, possessor of that "passionate profile and soul-burning stare," as James Wolcott once wrote in Vanity Fair, becomes the film's masked vigilante, the Black Eagle — a nod to Douglas Fairbanks' Zorro seen on screen five years earlier. But The Eagle's striking poster wisely kept cinema's first male sex symbol unmasked.

Here, too, are vaunted, valuable offerings from the 1940s, chief among them the Style B one sheet for 1941's *Moon Over Miami* starring Don Ameche and Betty Grable and the smoldering Style B one sheet for 1946's *Gilda* with Rita Hayworth in the title role. It's impossible to choose favorites among the nearly 900 offerings in this auction, but it's safe to say these stunning works remain collectors' favorites nearly eight decades later.

Among the truly one-of-a-kind offerings: Ercole Brini's signed painting for the 1946 Italian release of Otto Preminger's twisty noir *Laura*, starring Gene Tierney in the title role. Brini's work, representative of the artist's celebrated oeuvre, encapsulates the film's plot in a single haunting image. At the other end of the spectrum, this auction also features the original artwork made for 1989's *Major League*, sliding into someone's home just in time for baseball season.

And with Star Trek: Picard now in its second season, here's something all Trekkies will want to beam into their collections: Drew Struzan's original mixed-media artwork for WildStorm's 2001 *Enemy Unseen*, a trade paperback featuring the crew of Star Trek: The Next Generation. Featuring Captain Jean-Luc Picard, his first officer Will Riker and Lt. Worf, it practically screams: Make it so.

ILLUSTRATION GALLERY!

ART THAT POPS!

THE 2022 WINTER POSTER COLLECTION IS (still) HERE

Dear Posterophiles,

Spring is here but the SPRING POSTER COLLECTION is not yet ready (a byproduct of the Gallery move last month).

While Covid is thankfully on its way out, Shipping delays from Europe still occur with long delays at customs preventing packages to be in the Gallery's hands to check the quality, take pictures and catalogue the items.

Digital business doesn't mean at all the end of manual business and we like it like that so we are not fully chained to the binary 1-0 digital prison.

Due to our move we haven't indeed showcased the massive WINTER COLLECTION as much as it should have so we are trying to rectify this with another selection of 20 very eclectic posters which might have been overlooked by many of you when browsing the 13 pages (64 posters / page) of the NEW PRODUCTS section.

As the whole planet seems to be in crisis with "panic rooms" being sold by the thousands, I suggest we retreat to peaceful places where the only dangers come from nature. Hippopotamuses kill more humans than sharks every year...but they are so freaking adorable. Vintage travel poster (circa 1976) advertising tourism in Zambia.

Peaceful places can be either real or created by our imagination. One I love is the colorful surroundings in Pixar's masterpiece, UP in this very limited edition print by Raid71.

War is everywhere these days so let's try to add comedy to blunt the nightmares with the very rare original German poster of one of France's most famous and successful movies ever made, La grande vadrouille, starring Louis de Funes and Bourvil.

Wish all conflicts could be settled at the Olympics where the best (non doped and non sexchanged) athletes would win fairly...but even olympics brought conflicts into the sports arenas as in 1972. Still the 1972 Munich Olympics poster series by Otl Aicher remains the most visually impressive. The Hockey poster is the rarest (along the Football one) to find.

Kings and their advisers are legions throughout History Most of the latter allow the kings to become tyrants but some do not. A pair that is worth revisiting is the one formed by drinking buddies and thespians extraordinaires, Richard Burton and Peter O'Toole in the 1964 Historical epic drama, Becket. Love the Belgian poster painted by the country's master of colors, RAY \(Raymond Elseviers\).

While most Belgian posters are indeed very colorful, some still manage to convey the beauty of the story or the actors's glow in simple 2 colors. Proof with the elusive poster for Cesar et Rosalie, the lovely French romantic drama starring the ever gorgeous Romy Schneider and the always charming Yves Montand.

Romance is in the air and who sings it better than Boz Scaggs. Sublime image used for his 1974 Oakland shows.

But some couples' embraces can quickly turn sour...and violent! Terrifying painting by Sandro Symenoni \(Sym\) for the 1972 Italian Giallo, Death Walks At Midnight.

That is when you really need a seasoned detective to find the murderer especially when blood is splattered. Striking Czech poster for the 1964 French Noir movie, Maigret voit rouge starring Jean Gabin.

Black and white desolation can still offer a vision of beauty as Rick Griffin, the most creative and out-there Artist of the San Francisco psychedelic poster scene, shows in his recreation of the Pietà. Ultra rare large 1967 head shop poster.

Another genius of that very same San Francisco poster scene is Victor Moscoso. While most of his greatest work was done between 1967 and 1969, he still worked and produced many other later masterpieces such as this extraordinary poster for Siouxsie and The Banshees' 1986 Hollywood concert.

Multi talented French siren (actress, singer...), Marie Laforet was mainly well known for her incredibly beautiful eyes...but her legs and frame were not too shabby either! Very rare set of 2 German posters combining into one large image of the 1965 French spy comedy, Marie-Chantal contre Dr. Kha, directed by Claude Chabrol.

Frank Sinatra embodies Class and elegance with an air of danger. Here he is as the Chairman Of The Board. Very limited edition print by Blunt Graffix.

James Brown was not the Chairman but he was the King! Fabulous 1973 concert poster for the Stuttgart show.

The debate rages between which is the best Dune movie made (Lynch or Villeneuve)? I would argue that the one that Alejandro Jodorowsky worked so hard but failed to fully finance could have been the most impressive. Colorful Japanese poster for the 2013 documentary describing the making of the unreleased movie. Art by Druillet.

Space offers magnificent images which clearly inspired David Singer to create the visual for this stunning poster (BG 227) from the Fillmore West poster Series featuring The Grateful Dead and Miles Davis.

Rock legends again with the very hard to find FIRST edition of Led Zeppelin's 1972 Japanese tour program. The first edition has the ad for the guitar brand Greco using Led Zeppelin's name without authorization. The program was hastily reprinted WITHOUT the Led Zep mention in the Greco ad.

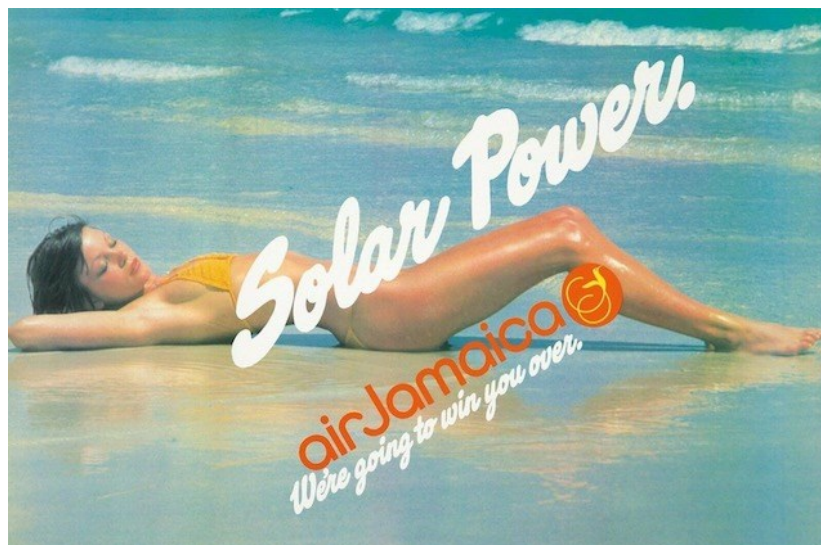

Another exclusivity in the Gallery is the original Italian poster for one of Jacques Tati's many masterpieces (and my personal favorite), Mon oncle. The poster is already linen backed.

Clearly less family oriented is this also very rare large German poster for Five Bloody Graves, the 1969 violent erotic Western, featuring a very overt bondage / torture image. How did this one pass the censors then is a mystery!?!

But we much prefer a woman untied, freely exposing her gorgeous self to the sun power (and not to male power) as this vintage 1982 Air Jamaica poster depicts.
