Heritage Unleashes Hidden 1931 'Frankenstein' Movie Poster
During April Event Full of Historic First-Time Offerings

'Neon masterpiece' Endless Summer joins more than 100 sci-fi and horror rarities from legendary Hollywood prop house

Imaged by Heritage Auctions, HA.com

DALLAS, Texas (April 7, 2023)
— Frankenstein was hiding in a Pennsylvania attic all along.

This 1931 Style A movie poster designed by the legendary Universal Pictures art director Karoly Grosz, that is, not the man nor the monster. There are only seven known surviving examples of this Frankenstein, and until this year, it was tucked away in the perpetual night beneath the eaves of a home in The Keystone State. And now it comes out to roar once more at Heritage Auctions in April.

Indeed, this Frankenstein one-sheet, folded and unrestored but in near-mint condition nearly a century later, is a centerpiece of the auction house's April 29-30 Movie Posters Signature® Auction. It is being offered alongside other coveted rarities that seldom see the light of day, including 116 horror and science-fiction offerings from the collection of Modern Props, once described by the Los Angeles Times as a "Hollywood institution."

Heritage has only offered this Frankenstein poster twice in its history and only once in near-mint condition – 19 years ago, when the monster scared up a record-setting price of \$189,750. Its 2004 price tag was befitting its status as one of the "great posters from the Golden Age of the silver screen," the subtitle of the landmark 1988 book Reel Art in which it's prominently featured.

Indeed, this poster might very well have saved Frankenstein's big-screen career. Stephen Rebello and Richard Allen noted that Universal's studio heads "read the shrieks and walkouts of preview audiences as trouble" when they began screening director James Whale's adaptation of Mary Shelley's novel. "This evocative poster was devised to help salvage some of a $291,000 investment."

In 2004 collectors worried they would never again see Grosz's masterwork in such extraordinary condition. That was indeed the case until now.

"It's a major event in the field when previously unknown Holy Grails like the Frankenstein Style A come to light," says Zach Pogemiller, Associate Director of Movie Posters. "A discovery like this presents a once-in-a-generation opportunity to private and institutional collectors alike and enriches our worldwide cinema culture. It's an honor and a privilege for Heritage to bring these items salvaged from obscurity to their proper place in the public spotlight."

The original Frankenstein is joined here by its ghost — 1942's The Ghost of Frankenstein, whose three sheet is so rare Heritage has never before seen one, much less brought it to auction. The fourth installment in what by then had become Universal's Franken-franchise, with Lon Chaney Jr. replacing Boris Karloff in the monster suit and Bela Lugosi as his companion Ygor, the film wasn't well regarded upon its release.

The New York Times's Bosley Crowther moaned that "the thought that he may yet return for further adventures with his body and Lugosi's scone fills us with mortal terror." It's also regarded as the movie that turned Frankenstein and Universal's roster of monsters from A-listers to B-movie stars, given the slashed budgets and reuse of old footage. Its posters remain the most valuable keepsake from its release. Nine years ago, Heritage sold one of the few surviving one sheets for $26,290. The far superior (and far large) three sheet is even more valuable, given its status as the sole survivor from this transitional period in horror-movie history.

Horror posters abound, too, along with historic sci-fi offerings found in the legendary collection of John Zabrucky, who in early 2020 shuttered his Modern Props after 42 years of providing props to everything from Blade Runner to Star Trek: The Next Generation to the Austin Powers films. Zabrucky told the Los Angeles Times three years ago he hoped an institution would vie for his vintage poster assemblage.

Instead, Zabrucky has done what all passionate collectors do: release his children into the wild so others can appreciate and caretake the collection of which he was so profoundly enamored. His offerings in April's auction constitute just a fraction of a fraction of his collection, and in June, Heritage will hold a dedicated auction featuring more of Zabrucky's star attractions.

From Modern Prop's estimable collection comes a poster Heritage is thrilled to offer for the first time: The Invisible Man, which, like another poster making its auction debut, The Adventures of Robin Hood, was created by one of the few printers in the 1930s that had short-lived deals with movie studios that allowed them to print alternative posters. They were allowed to make these alternate posters to compensate for the lack of "official" advertising materials – which were tossed out, lost or too worn out when the films were sent, often by bus, to different cities.

The provocative The Invisible Man poster, one of Zabrucky's most prized pieces, was created by Leader Press, based in Oklahoma City from 1933 to 1937. The romantic Robin Hood three-sheet comes from The Other Company, which operated from 1937 until 1940. According to one online history, both companies "entered into an agreement with several major studios to produce posters with the stipulation that the studio name would not appear on the poster." But who needs "official" when beautiful will more than suffice? Nearly every one of the lots offered in this auction is exceptional, chief among them the rare surviving paper meant to advertise tomorrow's coming attractions before being tossed in with yesterday's trash. This Wizard of Oz one sheet shouldn't exist, nor this It Happened One Night poster or this Casablanca keepsake. Yet decades later, these posters survive and thrive among collectors who treat them with the same care and consideration given masterworks that hang in museums. Including the Smithsonian.

Also a Heritage first, the original 1964 silkscreened poster for director-narrator Bruce Brown's immortal surf documentary The Endless Summer, which didn't garner wide distribution until 1996. The poster, created by then-art student and fellow surfer John Van Hamersveld, ranks among the most iconic of the 1960s; one of the few surviving originals resides in the Smithsonian Institute's National Museum of American History, which calls it a "1960s neon masterpiece."

Heritage has never before offered one of these extraordinarily rare posters, which makes it even more thrilling to begin with what's likely the very best of the sole survivors: This Endless Summer is signed by Van Hamersveld, who counts among his album covers Magical Mystery Tour and Exile on Main St., and comes from the collection of record producer and manager Denny Bruce. Catch the wave.

Our wonderful April Major Auction has concluded, with total sales of $515,464.00!

Lots of individual records were set, and the auction was VERY successful! While we COULD tell you lots of specifics about how great the results were, we would so much rather you simply click HERE to see EVERY result of each of the 778 great items (not just the top results, as so many auctions choose to show)!

EMOVIEPOSTER.COM, THE WORLDS #1 AUCTION FOR 33 YEARS
OUR APRIL MAJOR AUCTION ENDED WITH WONDERFUL RESULTS!

A shocking moon slab sets off a weird quest
$515,464.00 IN SALES
SEE EVERY RESULT HERE!

IT IS NOW TIME TO CONSIGN TO OUR AUGUST MAJOR AUCTION!
SEE PREVIEWS HERE!

Our April Major Auction has just ended, and we are already taking consignments for our August Major Auction now!

We already have hundreds of items consigned for our August Major Auction, which runs from August 13th to November 3rd, and we have pictured four of the confirmed items in it below. Why consign NOW, when the auction is a few months away? I am glad you asked!

You want to get your items sent NOW, because we always take the first example of each item we receive, so you can guarantee your items WILL be in the auction by sending them now (unless of course, we somehow already have it).

And if you send rare and desirable items now, you may well see them in future preview ads, which gets your items a lot of extra exposure, which may get you lots of extra money! Why not contact us today with what you have?

EMOVIEPOSTER.COM

Our August Major Auction (it runs from 8/13 to 9/3) will be FILLED with great items (like these!). Why not consign today to this wonderful auction!

eMoviePoster.com's three great current sets of auctions ending 5/9, 5/11, and 5/14 (containing 3,905 auctions in all!) are filled with wonderful stuff!

Ending Tuesday the 9th at <http://www.emovieposter.com/agallery/13.html>: 1,616 folded U.S. & non-U.S. posters, lobby cards, stills, and MUCH more

Ending Thursday the 11th at <http://www.emovieposter.com/agallery/14.html>: 1,100 rolled posters (U.S. non-U.S. and NON-movie posters)

Ending Sunday the 14th at <http://www.emovieposter.com/agallery/15.html>: 1,911 bulk lots containing 48,765 items in all; our biggest and BEST bulk lot auction EVER, it's like walking into a store and everything is 90% off!

Or (for the next 15 full days, until the Tuesday auctions start to close on the 9th) view ALL of the 3,905 current auctions in a single gallery at <http://www.emovieposter.com/agallery/all.html>

This is especially valuable if you want to search ALL of the current 3,905 auctions at once for a star, genre, size or whatever!

And because we now have a "realistic $30 minimum" for single auction items, it both means the quality level of our Tuesday and Thursday items has gone WAY up, AND at the same time it means there are LOTS of interesting items in our bulk lots!

They say one picture is worth a million words (with inflation!), and looking at the images of the 3,905 current auctions closing the 9th, the 11th, and the 14th is worth more than millions of words I could write!

And PLEASE don't wait until "later" to start looking these over, because, with 3,905 auctions there will be many great buys made! But YOU can't get those if you are not bidding, so please start looking now!

Not yet registered to bid? Go to <https://auctions.emovieposter.com/Registration.taf> to sign up (we qualify our bidders, something few auctions do, which means you will always be bidding against real bidders who honor their bids).

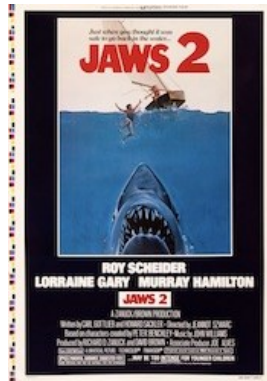

And remember: WE are the only major auction with NONE of those awful "buyers premiums" (and one auction has a truly insane minimum buyers premium of $29, meaning they will never sell any item for under $30, and that their poor consignors get pennies from a $30 sale)

Our party starts with the STAR WARS Birthday Cake 1 Sheet, WAN-DA, BLACK SWANS, JAZZ, a flipped wig for a KISS and Hot-Blooded EXCITEMENT!

Dear Friends and Movie Lovers:

Hello from Hollywood. It's been 20 years since my hobby-turned-side-hustle morphed into Film/Art and moved out of the house and into the beautiful Technicolor building. It's so lucky to work with a team of friends and do what I love for a living, and I'm very grateful for it. To those of you I've met, spoken with or emailed - to everyone reading this: thanks.

One of the nice things about hanging around for a bit is that people eventually find you. I was recently contacted by a man who worked in a printing facility in LA, decades ago; he was smart enough to keep some of their "printer's proof" posters (which are used during the process of perfecting the color levels before mass print runs), and now we have some of those gems, including the beloved STAR WARS Birthday poster and a rare - and ultimately shelved - design for JAWS 2

Also this month: a Roadshow LAWRENCE OF ARABIA 1 Sheet; an ultra-rare Swedish JAZZ ON A SUMMER'S DAY + BLACK SWAN, WANDA, Fassbinder and more:

RECENT VISITORS TO THE MPA GALLERY

The entertainment industry touches every corner of the world -- and so does Movie Poster Archives. Recently, MPA was honored to host visitors to our area from Honduras who picked some favorite celebrity photos to take back home.

The Creed poster gets attention from filmmaker Yeshiya Bagwell of Free Fire Films and MPA's director of media and marketing Christophe Cogerino.

WE LOVE OUR VOLUNTEERS

Volunteer Sandra T McEwen uses her skills as a retired database administrator to create master lists of Celebrities and TV Shows in the Archives. She's cataloged almost 1,000 files of celebrity photos and around 500 TV shows. And they'll show up in the auction, webstore, and the Gallery. Thank you, Sandra!

Volunteer Elaine M. Johnson sorts celebrity photos for the Gallery and auction. Seems to enjoy her work! Thank you, Elaine!

Become A Volunteer

Movie Poster Archives is always in need of volunteers to help with sorting, filing, labeling, etc. If you love the movies -- as we do -- please consider volunteering. Any amount of time is greatly appreciated.

No special

Our volunteer hours are 11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday thru Saturday. Please call to schedule a time convenient for you.

GROUP TOURS

We recently had the privilege of hosting the lovely ladies of the HHH Club who toured our facilities, watched our documentary of the history of MPA, and were given an educational overview of the world of movie posters and accessories by our archivist Ed.

Contact us if you have a group who would like to schedule a tour and learn more about the importance of movie accessories.

THE BRAND NEW

NEW EBAY Clients: please always contact me here as you will have more choice and NO VAT/sales taxes for both international and US customers (except for NY state residents).

Insurance is now mandatory for all international shipments (to be added after purchase based on amount)

Here's a quick summary by the main categories to help you navigate covering the COMICS, MOVIES, MUSIC and OTHERS sections (you can choose to browse by using the filter at the left edge and clicking on the categories/subcategories you prefer or by clicking on the click down box on the right).

MUSIC :

A large selection of close to 80 posters and handbills with some ultra rare 1st printing posters from Bill Graham's Fillmore West along with Many new fantastic vintage concert posters from Alice Cooper, Allman Brothers, The Beatles, Cat Stevens, David Bowie, Donovan Elvis Presley, The Grateful Dead, Ike & Tina Turner, James Taylor, Jimi Hendrix, Joni Mitchell, Kate Bush, Kiss, Madness, Peter Gabriel, Police, Robert Palmer, Sly & The Family Stone, Stevie Wonder, Stray Cats, Ted Nugent, Todd Rundgren..as well as some very rare posters from the Grande Ballroom - Michigan scene and several large French concert posters.

OTHERS :

This section covers the following genres

Advertising / Airlines-Travel / Headshop-Psychedelic / Olympics / Politics-Propaganda / Various

* Airlines-Travel: Another addition of colorful airlines posters from Aeronaves, Air Canada, Air France, Alitalia, American, BEA /BOAC / British Airways, Continental, Eastern, Northwest Orient, Pan Am, Qantas, TWA, United Airlines and Western Airlines.

Advertising: Several ski brand posters (Rossignol, Tyrolia and Kneissel) as well as a sublime poster for Philips TV sets (See below).

Olympics: 2 among the rarest Munich 1972 Olympics poster series...

Politics-Propaganda: 4 Propaganda posters from WW2, Russia and the US.

Various: Several showgirls posters from the Folies Bergère.

MOVIES :

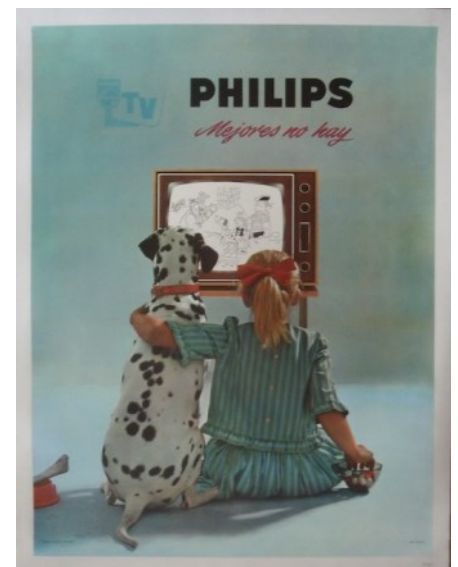

Another gigantic selection with over 630 posters from all around the world: Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Poland, Sweden, the UK and the US with a very large contingent of Japanese posters (Samurai-Yakuza, Pinky, Kaiju, Animation-Disney-Kids...including over 100 magnificent small sized ad posters with unique designs: John Wayne, James Bond, Hitchcock, Doris Day, Jean Gabin, Alain Delon, Belmondo...) as well as old, new and rare limited edition prints. (Tom Whalen, Laurent Durieux, Martin Ansin...)

Following is a sample of 20 posters among the 778 you will hopefully enjoy and purchase from the NEW PRODUCTS section with a particular focus on Japanese iconography and cinematography.

We start with one the most beautiful Japanese posters created for the original releases of Lady Snowblood, the Pinky-Violence classic featuring the sublime Meiko Kaji bloodthirstier than ever seeking revenge on the men who violated her.

Another classique Japanese Cinema - yet much milder: My Neighbor Totoro, one of the Anime genre masterpieces and the movie which put Studios Ghibli on the worldwide map. This image is also iconic. It was initially only used for the very large (B1) original poster and then reused for the 1991 commercial (B2 sized) poster which is the one offered here.

Another image celebrating friendship but with real characters is this Spanish advertising poster (circa 1964) for the Philips TV sets with the "mejores no hay / None better" slogan. The poster is already linen backed.

After the kind monsters from Totoro, let's give a larger room to the giant Kaiju monsters with the poster for one of the Genre's classic, Godzilla: Destroy All Monsters, reuniting all the fantastic creatures in a rubber and cardboard megafest!

One more Japanese icon is Astro Boy, Anime's first hero, here on this incredible limited edition print with glow in dark inks from Martin Ansin. We also offer the 'regular version as well as Laurent Durieux' print. They will all be available in a months as still being printed as I type.

One small Japanese ad poster among the 100+ added is the one used for the original release in 1963 of Dr. No. Never seen before and completes the full collection of James Bond Japanese ads, all available in the Gallery.

Aside from the James Bond movies, my favorite Eurospy movie from the 60's is Deadlier Than The Male with Elke Sommer and Sylvia Koscina as seductive as they are lethal. Large French poster unavailable elsewhere and its painting by Jean Mascii. A must for all the Bikini amateurs among you!

Brigitte Bardot, unrecognizable looking like furry porcelain doll on this striking vintage British Personality commercial poster from 1972

Another ultra rare small Japanese advertising Ad for A bout de souffle \(Breathless\) starring Jean-Paul Belmondo and Jean Seberg.

The Gallery was very lucky to be able to acquiring five original uncut double posters from the Fillmore West series designed AND hand signed by David Singer including the one for BG 237-238 featuring The Grateful Dead. These posters were printed a proofs and in very few numbers (10 to 20 maybe) before being cut in single posters. Ultra rare!!!!

Limited edition print by Raid71 revisiting Blade Runner the visual masterpiece which used Tokyo as its main inspiration. This print is on foil paper. We also offer the black and white Variant print.

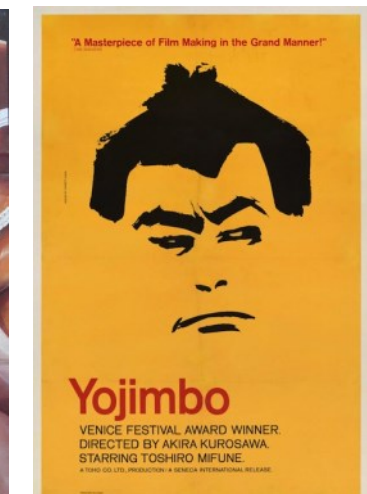

Another very rare poster and iconic image is the Lebanese poster for the first local release in 1976 of A Fistful Of Dollars, the first episode in the Man With No Name trilogy from Sergio Leone starring Clint Eastwood. Painting by Renato Casaro. Note the wrong title, "For A Fistful Of Dollars" which makes this poster a true rarity Angelo Cesselon is another immense Italian illustrator, author of tens of movie paintings including the majestic large 2 panel poster for Luis Bunuel's 1964 drama Le journal d'une femme de chambre \(Diary Of A Chambermaid\) starring Jeanne Moreau. A new Gallery exclusive.

The massive Japanese poster collection added had to include its share of Pinky movies and its sub-genre Bondage with this striking painted image for The SM. Dedicated to the numerous avid collectors reading this!!!

Between 1960 and 1966, Japanese Cinema reigned supreme in all major Festivals worldwide thanks to the numerous Samurai classics, obviously led by Maestro Akira Kurosawa whose movies were only released in or 2 theaters in the US (New York, San Francisco and/or Los Angeles). The original one sheet poster for Yojimbo is simply impossible to find (Having been printed in tens of copies according to few knowledgeable sources). I was lucky to find one and after restoring and linen backing, the Gallery is proud to present it to you

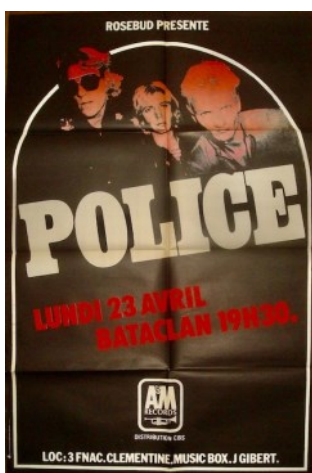

French concert posters from the 70's are difficult to find as also printed in few quantities due to their large size. Among the 7 added, let's admire the one for The Police show at Paris' Bataclan in 1979. Note that sting insisted in playing at the same venue after it reopened following the murderous assaults in November 2013.

Murderous terrorists or psycho-killers, evil is plural. Unique design for the small original Japanese ad for Psycho, one of Alfred Hitchcock's many classics. Verso is an image for Chaplin's The Great Dictator.

Without any transition, here is of the many Ski brand posters added. This one for the early 70's French brand Skis Rossignol and its Trappeur line with a psychedelic design by François Dardelet.

Design with a capital D with one of my all-time favorite movie poster (among the 19000 in the Gallery's stock). A gigantic œuvre from one of the genre's most prominent Artists, i.e. Professor Hans Hillmann, created for the 1965 German rerelease of Battleship Potemkin by Eisenstein. Graphics mixing simplicity and power! The poster is rolled and in superb shape. Only my 3rd copy in 12 years!

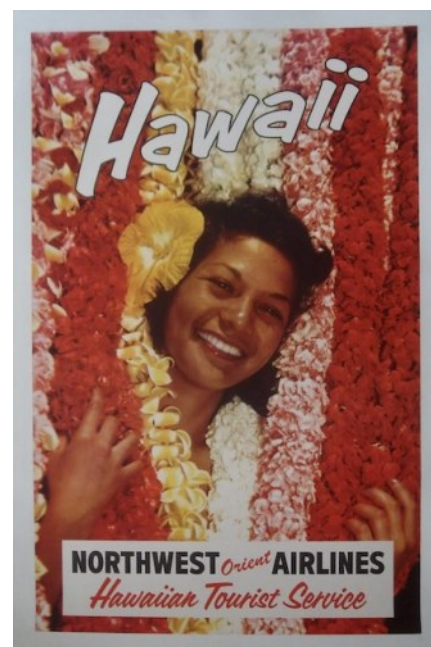

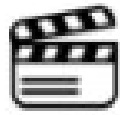

We close this very short selection with not an image linked to Japan but one which should makes you feel joyful and warm. The vintage (circa 1962) Northwest Orient Airlines poster advertising flights to Hawaii. The poster is already linen backed .
