Thanhouser Silent Films Available for Online Viewing

Free Access to 56 Films Aimed at Improved Access

Thanhouser Company Film Preservation, Inc. announced that all 56 of the Thanhouser silent films currently distributed on DVD are now available for online viewing at no charge.

The films are available for immediate viewing on the Thanhouser website at www.thanhouser.org. The 56 films were produced by the Thanhouser film enterprise based in New Rochelle, New York between 1910 and 1917. This collection provides a representative cross section of the company's output during this important era in early film development.

"This goldmine of rarely-before-seen films adds immeasurably to our understanding of the development of American silent cinema. Online access makes these delightful films available to researchers, film historians, media studies teachers and movie lovers everywhere," said Kathryn Fuller-Seeley, Professor of Film Studies at Georgia State University.

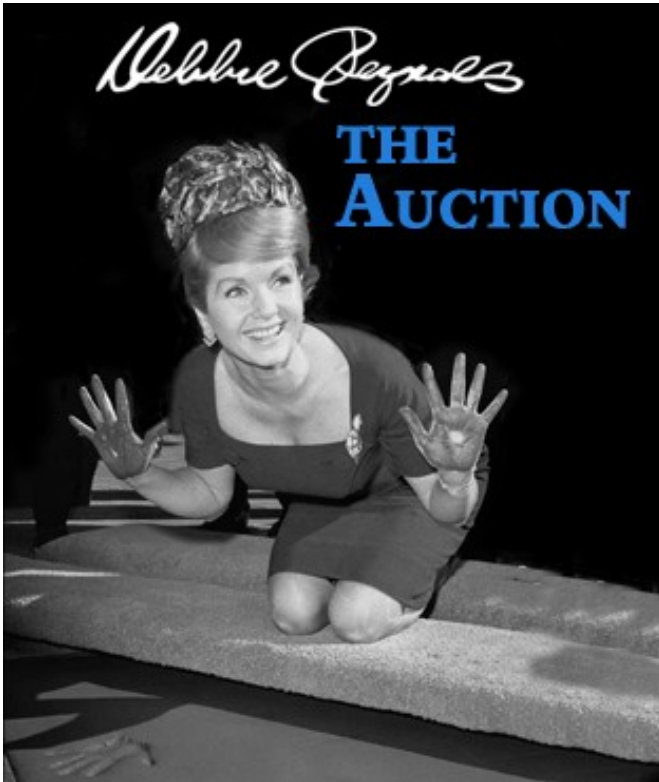

The films were assembled over the past 25 years with the cooperation of archives around the world, including The Library of Congress in Washington, DC, The British Film Institute in London, England, George Eastman House in Rochester, New York, The Museum of Modern Art in New York, New York, the Academy Film Archive in Los Angeles, California, the EYE Film Institute Netherlands in Amsterdam, Holland, and from the Thanhouser collection.

"Making these films accessible for online viewing is intended to expand viewership and academic study of this pioneering studio," said Ned Thanhouser, grandson of Thanhouser Company founders Edwin and Gertrude Thanhouser.

Each film includes a summary and analysis written by film historian Victor Graf. Andrew Crow, Raymond A. Brubacher and Ben Model composed and performed original musical accompaniment commissioned exclusively for this collection.

Debbie Reynolds - The Auction

June 2011 - Part I

"My lifetime dream has been to assemble and preserve the history of the Hollywood film industry. Hollywood has been an enormous part of my life as I know it has been for countless fans all over the world. This collection represents a lifetime of collecting Hollywood artifacts and this is a rare opportunity to own a piece of Hollywood History for those who love the movies as much as I do. For the first time in nearly five decades, these iconic pieces will be made available to the public through a series of auctions presented by Profiles in History beginning in June 2011."

Movie Still Identification Book

Not Just for Identifying Movie Stills

Also Identifies Costumes

MOVIE STILL IDENTIFICATION BOOK

A Learn About Network, L.L.C. Publication

In talking with the Hollywood Motion Picture Museum (who is a LAMP Member) about their upcoming sale of movie costumes at Profiles in History (who is also a LAMP member), we learned a very interesting use for the Movie Still Identification Book that we were not aware of. The HMPM said that had about 750 unknown costumes acquired from the studios and were using our production codes to help identify costumes!!! It seems that it was quite common for the studios to sew in a tag with the production code in it. WHO KNEW!!!
