HIGHEST SELLING MOVIE POSTERS

How much would you pay for an original vintage movie poster? Well there are some collectors who are apparently willing to pay a lot. Here are ten of the most expensive movie posters ever sold.

In November of 2005, Reel Gallery sold a German International poster for the 1927 sci-fi classic Metropolis. This heavily documented transaction recorded a sales price of $690,000.

Five years earlier, Sotheby's Auction had sold a German three sheet for this film for $357,750.

In March of 1997, Sotheby's Auction House auctioned a one sheet for Universal's 1932 The Mummy, starring Boris Karloff. Hammer price on this poster was $453,500.

Two three sheets for the 1933 film King Kong topped the six figure mark. Style B sold at a Heritage auction in November of 2012 for $388,375.

The Style A poster sold at Sotheby's in April 1999 for $244,500.

Heritage Auction has sold two one sheets for 1934's Black Cat topping a quarter of a million dollars.

The Style B (above) sold in November 2009 for $334,600. The style below sold in March 2007 for $286,800.

In November 2007, Heritage auctioned an original one sheet for the 1935 film The Bride of Frankenstein for the price of $334,600.

The following 1935 Style F one sheet for Universal's classic Dracula sold for $334,600 at Heritage's November 2007 signature auction.

The insert for 1931's Frankenstein sold for $262,900 at Heritage's July 2013 auction.

Unshredded Nostalgia's Pre-1930's Poster Exhibit

Unshredded Nostalgia, New Jersey's only metropolitan-style poster gallery, announces its next poster gallery exhibit titled "Military, Movie and Theater pre-1930 poster exhibit." It will open to the public on Veteran's Day weekend, November 9, 2013 and run through December.

"The Barnegat Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the Southern Ocean County Chamber is celebrating their 100th anniversary", states gallery owner Jim Episale. "After perusing thru thousands of posters in our inventory, we curated an exhibit that we felt was appropriate for this occasion."

Over 75 Movie, Theater and Military posters will be exhibited. "We felt that Veteran's weekend was an appropriate opening date since so many early military posters will be exhibited," said Episale.

THE ART OF BOB PEAK

One of the most imaginative and prolific illustrators of the 20th century, Robert Peak revolutionized advertising in the film industry and is considered the "Father of the modern movie poster." Robert Peak totally transformed the approach to movie advertising from basic collages of film stills or head shots to flamboyant artistic illustrations.

United Artist hired Peak in 1961 to help promote West Side Story. His innovative solution-painting characters and scenes into a single montage became the first of over 100 such posters, among them My Fair Lady, Camelot, Rollerball, Star Trek, Superman and Apocalypse Now. Peak was not short on editorial assignments with 45 covers of Time Magazine featuring his illustrations-most notably the portrait of Mother Teresa.

For the first time, a comprehensive oversize 380 page coffee table book on the Life and Art of Bob Peak. The book includes over 600 images of works spanning a forty year career with many never before seen illustrations along with his many iconic illustrations for the Movies, Major Periodicals, National Ad Campaigns, Time Magazine Covers, Fashion Advertising, Sports Advertising and more.

Bob Peak came on the New York Advertising Art Scene in the early 1950's. He went on to become one of the most prolific illustrators of the 21st century. His artistic vision represented a bridge between the era of Norman Rockwell and Coby Whitmore, with its emphasis on technique, to more direct ways of making pictures, greater use of line, and a more startling, bolder palette.

In 1961 he was named "Artist of the Year" by the Artist Guild of New York. In 1977 he was inducted into the prestigious New York Society of Illustrators Hall of Fame. In 1992 after over 100 Movie Campaigns including his iconic images for such films as, My Fair Lady, Camelot, Star Trek, and Apocalypse Now, he was awarded the Lifetime Achievement Award by the Hollywood Reporters for his contribution to the film industry.

The book is available for purchase HERE.

There are now over 12,000 images online on our new Movie Still ID web portal. Here are just some of the great actors and actresses that are represented in our stills archive, as we continue to add more. To see all of the galleries, click HERE.

Louisiana Film History Website Now Connected To The State Library of Louisiana

The State Library of Louisiana has now placed a direct link on their site to our Louisiana film history website, HollywoodOnTheBayou.com. This is a major acknowledgement of the research found on this website as it is uncommon for a commercially supported website to be linked to a state facility.

The linked page also contains links to LearnAboutMoviePosters.com and MoviePosterDataBase.com.

Movie Poster Collecting Workshop

LAMP will be presenting its first workshop on collecting movie posters at the upcoming Lake Charles Film Festival. This workshop will be part of Hollywood on the Bayou's participation in the festival, which will include an hour long Power Point presentation on Louisiana's film history and a full exhibit on the subject featuring movie posters, lobby cards and stills from our extensive collection. Here's Ed at last year's Film Fest.

FINALLY -- GUINNESS RECOGNIZES STEVE SANSWEET'S MASSIVE STAR WARS COLLECTION

After years of amassing over 300,000 artifacts from the Star Wars saga, Steve Sansweet, super collector and former Lucasfilm employee, has been certified by Guinness Book of Records as having the world's largest Star Wars collection. And the collective response from the collecting community is ... it's about damn time!

The "Star Wars" films have inspired collectors of memorabilia in a way that few other movie franchises have achieved. It therefore takes something special for one individual to be named as having the world's largest collection of memorabilia related to the series.

The super fan who is currently able to lay claim to that title is Steve Sansweet, a journalist and author, and president of Rancho Obi-Wan, a non-profit museum in Petaluma, northern California that houses his collection of an estimated 300,000 unique "Star Wars" items.

PLEASE HELP DAVID REACH HIS GOAL

Our son (and LAMP's IT tech) David is participating in "Be A Hero For Kids" gaming fundraiser to benefit Children's Hospital. Here's his message:

I'm on a mission to save kids and I need your help. My local Children's Miracle Network Hospital treats thousands of children each year, regardless of their family's ability to pay. These kids are facing scary stuff like cancer, cystic fibrosis, and injuries from accidents to name just a few.

On November 2nd, 2013, I'll be participating in this huge worldwide celebration of the social impact of gamers of all kinds from video games to board games and tabletop RPG's! It's my sincere hope that you'll find it in your heart to support my efforts with a monthly pledge or one-time gift ($5, $10, etc.) that will go directly to my hospital.

Your donation is tax-deductible and ALL PROCEEDS go to help kids.

Last year, Extra Life raised more than 2 million dollars to save kids, but in 2013 our goals, just like the needs of the kids we serve, are much, much higher. I can't do this without your help. Donating online is safe and easy! To make an online donation please click the "Support Me" button on this page. Thank you for caring for our kids!
