HUNS' DEPORTATION AND FORCED LABOR AT MONS

On the 25th of February, 1918, the Germans assembled the young men from 15 to 18 years old at the barracks of Mons (Hainaut). Five hundred of this number were sent to Douai to perform, under duress, labor for the benefit of the enemy.

The classes in rhetoric of the College of St. Stanislas and of the Athenee are stripped of students. The middle school, the normal school, and the Institut Ferdinand were required to furnish poor children, requisitioned under the pretext that they were to have a vacation.

At Mons and its suburbs the Germans are rounding up the young girls. It is not known what the reason for this measure is.

TRYING TO DESTROY BELGIAN INDUSTRY

The German deprivations in Belgium have a double aim: To furnish material for the Kaiser's army and to ruin Belgian industry.

In order to carry out this second purpose the invaders have not hesitated to steal manufacturing secrets. We still remember how the secret of the manufacture of artificial silk was appropriated at the factory at Obourg by a German rival, with the consent of the higher authorities at Berlin. Now it is announced that they have removed from the great Cockerill factories at Seraing not only the entire equipment, leaving only the walls of the building, but even the plans, designs, archives, and secrets of manufacture.

PRICE OF STRAW IN OCCUPIED BELGIUM

The inhabitants of the invaded portion of Belgium have been obliged to substitute various other materials, chiefly straw, for the wool in their mattresses and pillows. Straw which used to cost 50 c. (10 cents) a bundle before the war now costs from 6 ($1.20) to 6.50 francs ($1.30).

SCARCITY OF LINEN

Two shirts to a person. The Germans have carried out their usual methods, with unbecoming harshness, in occupied Belgium by the seizure of linen. Thus, at Jolmont, they left only two shirts for each person.

TELLS LADIES HERE "WATCH YOUR STEP"

Can not camouflage a touchy corn but says they lift right out

A brisk, lively step is what charms more than a lovely skin, but your high heels have caused corns, and you limp a little. That's bad, girls, and you know it. Corns destroy beauty and grace, besides corns can be lifted out with the fingers.

Rid your feet of every corn by asking at any drug store for a quarter of an ounce of freestone. This will cost little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

A few drops applied directly upon a tender, touchy corn relieves the soreness and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out without pain.

This freestone is a gummy substance which dries instantly and simply dries up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding skin.

Women must keep in mind that cornless feet create a youthful step which enhances her attractiveness.

TONAWANDA BUSINESS MAN SINGS PRAISES

"I suffered for years with stomach trouble and gas continually. Doctors thought I had stomach ulcers or cancer. After last attack they advised going to Rochester, Minn., for an operation. A friend advised trying Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I did, and I cannot sing its praises too highly, as I can now eat anything and everything. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

WOMEN FARM-LABOR SPECIALISTS APPOINTED FOR WORK IN NEW YORK STATE.

Six women farm-labor specialists have been appointed by the Food Commission of New York State, which will pay their salaries and expenses while they organize units of women workers. The appointments were made at the request of Charles D. Barnes, Director Bureau of Employment, State Industrial Commission, Department of Labor, New York and will work under him.

The plan is to apportion the state into six districts taking in land that is farmed in the most intensive way. In writing of the method of work, Mr. Barnes says:

"One of our women farm-labor specialists goes into the district assigned to her and through one of our state public employment offices, as well as through farm bureaus and granges, endeavors to discover the different points where there is the most likelihood of an opportunity for a woman's unit. After selecting some particular sections, the farm-labor specialist interviews the farmers in regard to their attitude toward using women help. Having discovered a favorable section, the farm-labor specialist will endeavor to find a suitable house in which to locate the unit."

After completing all preliminary arrangements, including the choice of a proper supervisor for the unit, the farm-labor specialist goes to the largest near-by industrial community and through local organizations, such as the Y. M. C. A., and Y. W. C. A., the Home Defense Councils, and the men's and women's clubs seeks to raise a sufficient fund to organize the unit, this amount varying according to special needs. Having provided cots, bedding, and a general camp outfit, as well as enough money to pay the grocery bills until payment for labor begins to come in, the work is turned over to the nearest State Employment Office, where a member of the staff is assigned to select the women who are to make up the unit, which may vary in size from 15 to 25.

"We are going to co-operate with the Woman's Land Army," Mr. Barnes announces, "in that we will consider for the units such women as have enrolled in the Woman's Land Army, but in all cases we are going to reserve the right to decide on each individual woman helping to make the unit. No woman under 18 will be taken. We are hoping that our farm-labor specialists may be able to establish a number of units of this kind, but we are going to work slowly and be very careful in the selection of women."

"In sections where the farmers are unacquainted with the work capable of being done by women on the farms, they are still skeptical and we are going to be careful to insure the success of the units this year. We are already receiving from individual farmers with large estates requests for small units of women. The farmer in this case agrees to see to the housing of the women and engages to give them full-time work on his farm or possibly on the farm of a neighboring farmer who has gone in on the proposition with him, in a case of this kind we would send our farm-labor specialist to investigate the situation, to see if it is a proper place to send women, and to see that they were going to receive ample wages."

NEW YORK WOMEN IN RECRUITING WORK.

New York women working in organizations already established for war work did efficient service in recruiting the New York Division up to war strength. Local committees in small towns as well as large cities under took the posting of billboards, distribution of literature, placing of announcements in the newspapers, and arranging for recruiting speeches in the theaters and moving-picture houses, the Woman's Committee of the Committee of National Defense reports. It was found that men, preferably soldiers made the best impression in the larger gatherings, but by individual appeals the women scored.

"There are two reasons why women should interest themselves in recruiting," said a member of the New York unit. "We can, of course, only recruit outside of draft age—that is, men from 31 to 40, and boys from 18 to 21—and it is better that the boys who will soon be coming of draft age choose now the part of the service for which they are best fitted and voluntarily go into it. Many of the women do not seem to know that the Government wants men above and below the draft age to volunteer, but this is true."

"The second reason why we should be interesting in recruiting is that the sooner we get a great number of men armed and equipped on the fields of France the sooner there will be peace on earth and the larger probability that those we have already sent will come back to us."

TWO MILLION MOTHERS ENLIST IN BABY-SAVING CAMPAIGN

Thirty-four states have asked for 2,336,565 of the weighing and measuring cards to be used in the baby-saving campaign with which the beginning of the Children's year has been celebrated. This means that more than 2,000,000 mothers will strip, weigh, and measure their babies and write the resulting figures on a card so that the information may be used to safeguard the health of children in all parts of the country.

Dr. Jessica B. Pelzotto, head of the Department of Child Welfare, of the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense, reports that 352 working programs have been asked for by chairmen of local committees, together with 15,623 copies of Leaflet No. 1, entitled "Save 100,000 Babies" and 19,537 copies of Leaflet No. 2, which gives directions about weighing and measuring.

DESTRUCTION OF ROULERS BY HUNS

Heavy automobile trucks move up and down the streets of Roulers by order of the Germans. At each side of these camions a cable is fastened, ending in a strong hook which is attached to the roofs of houses damaged by the bombardment. That is how they finish the destruction of these immovable objects. Then the civilians are obliged to pull girder, metal, and everything that can be put to use by the German Army out of the piles of ruins.

Several groups of men and young boys are still detained in the city and forced to work.

A BIT OF STORY FROM "TARZAN OF THE APES"

TARZAN, THE BOY, leaves his foster mother, a huge fierce She-Ape. His journey through the woods fetches him to the water hole—where Numa the lion and Sheeta the panther go to lie in wait for their prey.

As a huge, wild eyed lion bounds from the underbrush, TARZAN with a magnificent leap, catches a trailing vine and with the speed of an arrow reaches the bottom terrace of overgrowth.

Then he unfastens a hempen rope and with one deft twist, the lion is a prisoner. TARZAN OF THE APES leaps to the ground and soon dispatches the lion and then shrieking his cry of victory—makes his way back to the Ape tribe.

LOUISIANA REJECTS DRY AMENDMENT

Baton Rouge, La., May 24.—Louisiana is the first state to refuse to ratify the federal prohibition constitutional amendment. The state senate, by a vote of twenty to twenty, last night defeated a resolution of ratification adopted a few hours previously by the house, seventy to forty-four. Legislatures of ten states have ratified the amendment.

HELD PRISONERS IN GERMAN CAMP

Washington, May 24.—The war department last night reported the following privates as prisoners in Germany: Edward J. Doherty, Newton, Center, Mass.; Carl Holst, Boston, and James M. Muldown, Brighton, Mass. None of the men was wounded. The names of the men were received through the British postal censorship and furnished to Ambassador Page at London. The name of the camp at which the soldiers are held was not given.

PUBLIC SOON WILL GET CHEAPER COAL

Washington, May 24.—Government fixed prices of coal to the public will be reduced soon as a result of an agreement reached yesterday between the fuel and railroad administrations under which the railroads will pay more for coal than they have paid in the past.
